

Protecting your employees around the world

Zurich Business Travel

Over the past few years, the risks associated with business travel have grown and evolved, becoming far-reaching and more complex.

We live in volatile times, with unprecedented geopolitical and natural disaster disruption affecting all regions of the world.

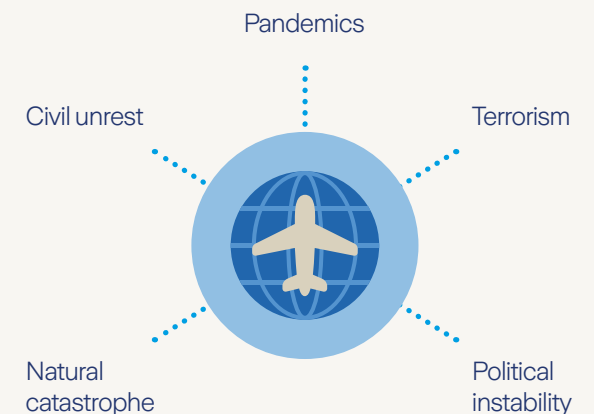

Zurich Business Travel can help you fulfil your duty of care and protect your travelling workforce against those risks and beyond the workplace.

By providing comprehensive insurance coverage, an in-house medical and security assistance, and travel risk management services, Zurich offers tailored solutions to optimally prepare, protect and support the needs of your travellers, everywhere.

A fast changing and unpredictable world

As your employees travel and work for you around the world, they are exposed to increased risks such as illness, natural catastrophe, political instability, pandemics, terrorism and accidents. Due to the recent geopolitical developments and climate changes, some of these risks have multiplied in nature and require different approach to risk management.

Companies have a duty to protect the health, safety and wellbeing of their employees in the workplace, and while traveling for business. Many laws and regulations already require employers to provide appropriate training for travelers and put mitigating procedures in place. Providing protection and care to your workforce as it returns to traveling will also boost your corporate social responsibility.
