RI TRANSPARENCY REPORT

2013/14

Zurich Insurance Group

About this report

The PRI Reporting Framework is a key step in the journey towards building a common language and industry standard for reporting responsible investment (RI) activities. This RI Transparency Report is one of the key outputs of this Framework. Its primary objective is to enable signatory transparency on RI activities and facilitate dialogue between investors and their clients, beneficiaries and other stakeholders. A copy of this report will be publicly disclosed for all reporting signatories on the PRI website, ensuring accountability of the PRI Initiative and its signatories.

This report is an export of the individual Signatory organisation's response to the PRI during the 2013-14 reporting cycle. It includes their responses to mandatory indicators, as well as responses to voluntary indicators the signatory has agreed to make public. The information is presented exactly as it was reported. Where an indicator offers a response option that is multiple-choice, all options that were available to the signatory to select are presented in this report. Presenting the information exactly as reported is a result of signatory feedback which suggested the PRI not summarise the information. As a result, the reports can be extensive. However, to help easily locate information, there is a Principles index which highlights where the information can be found and summarises the indicators that signatories complete and disclose.

Understanding the Principles Index

The Principles Index summarises the response status for the individual indicators and modules and shows how these relate to the six Principles for Responsible Investment. It can be used by stakeholders as an 'at-a-glance' summary of reported information and to identify particular themes or areas of interest.

Indicators can refer to one or more Principles. Some indicators are not specific to any Principle. These are highlighted in the 'General' column. When multiple Principles are covered across numerous indicators, in order to avoid repetition, only the main Principle covered is highlighted. This results in some Principles not being explicitly highlighted. For instance, Principle 1 and 2 cannot be implemented without implementing Principle 3, but there are cases when Principle 3 is not explicitly highlighted.

All indicators within a module are presented below. The status of indicators is shown with the following symbols:

Symbol	Status
✓	The signatory has completed all mandatory parts of this indicator
☑	The signatory has completed some parts of this indicator
🔒	This indicator was not relevant for this signatory
-	The signatory did not complete any part of this indicator
⚠	The signatory has flagged this indicator for internal review

Within the table, indicators marked in blue are mandatory to complete. Indicators marked in grey are voluntary to complete.

- Private equity: Zurich invests in private equity predominantly through the selection of third-party private equity fund managers. Zurich manages only a relatively small amount of direct private equity investments either made through co-investments (in-scope for ESG integration - see OA 01.03 for further details) or as part of 'legacy' portfolios (out-of-scope for ESG integration).
- Real estate: in a small number of instances, real estate portfolios are managed by external asset managers. In such cases, the same processes as described in SAM 03.2 apply.

At Zurich, Investment Management (IM) is responsible for managing the Group's own assets - or the investment of premiums received from writing insurance business. Zurich does not generally provide any asset management services to unaffiliated parties. All answers to this questionnaire relate primarily to the management of own assets. In a few instances in-house asset management teams manage specific funds that form part of insurance products offered directly to clients. Those investments are small relative to own assets. While Zurich's responsible investment approach and processes apply to these funds, figures reported will always refer to own assets only in order to ensure consistency with other publicly reported data. Zurich also offers its customers so-called unit-linked products where customers are responsible for choosing investment strategies from a range of externally-provided investment solutions. At this stage, unit-linked assets are not in-scope of Zurich's responsible investment approach.

As an insurance investment manager Zurich has a very strong focus on asset/liability management (ALM). To effectively manage investment risks relative to insurance liabilities, Zurich is required (often also by the regulator) to hold certain assets. For instance, Zurich will have to hold sovereign bonds to back certain local currency liabilities. In addition, Zurich is subject to various regulatory requirements across a wide range of jurisdictions. In some instances, such constraints may limit the scope of assets to which responsible investment practices can be actively applied.

Insurance investment management - the management of premiums received from writing insurance business - is relatively complex. ALM considerations (for example the structure of liabilities and the availability of assets), requirements to balance investment income and total return, regulatory requirements, tax considerations and other constraints vary widely across local jurisdictions. Zurich holds investments in over 500 different portfolios, held on over 200 different balance sheets in over 40 jurisdictions, managed by over 30 different external as well as internal asset managers. This complexity naturally requires exceptions and constrains the ability to provide universally-applicable responses in every instance. In answering this questionnaire, Zurich has refrained from commenting on every possible exception, and the answers provided apply to a majority of the assets in question. Nonetheless, Zurich is confident that the reporting framework, and the answers provided herein, capture Zurich's implementation of the principles to a large extent.

OA 01.1 Indicate if you have a responsible investment policy.

OA 01.2 Indicate if you have other guidance documents or more specific policies related to responsible investment.

OA 01.3

Provide a brief description of the key elements of your responsible investment policy or, if you do not have a policy, of your overall approach to responsible investment. [Optional]

Responsible investment forms a key element of Zurich's investment philosophy and is rooted in the Group's code of conduct and basic values ('Zurich Basics'). The Zurich Basics consider sustainable value creation as:

- creating value for customers, shareholders, employees and society
- proactively addressing ESG issues
- focusing on long-term success over short-term gains

At Zurich, responsible investment is about managing the overall portfolio of assets to create sustainable value or, in other words, to do well and do good. 'Well' means generating superior risk-adjusted returns for the benefit of Zurich's policyholders and shareholders, and 'good' means generating positive impact for the benefit of society and the communities in which we live and work.

Zurich's responsible investment approach is based on three pillars:

1. ESG integration: the proactive integration of ESG factors into the investment process - across asset classes, and alongside traditional financial metrics and state-of-the-art risk management practices - supports us in our mission to achieve superior risk-adjusted long-term financial returns. Successful ESG integration is based on:

- adequate training to help investment decision makers understand the relevance of ESG factors
- access to data, research and analysis pertaining to ESG issues to inform investment decision-making
- formal integration of ESG factors into the security and asset selection process
- active ownership practices

2. Impact investing: through impact investing Zurich can help fund solutions to many of the pressing social or environmental issues of our time. Zurich is directly exposed to challenges such as the potential effects of climate change or the use of scarce natural resources. It has a direct interest in sustainable economic growth, and the development of resilient communities. Impact investments address these and other issues by having a targeted, positive impact on society or the environment, but also offer a financial return commensurate with risks.

3. Collaboration and thought leadership: we believe that responsible investment will only truly have an impact if applied by mainstream investors. Only by acting collectively can ESG risk be priced efficiently and provide the right incentives to those seeking to raise capital in the market. Only by acting collectively will impact investments provide capital on the scale needed to tackle the pressing social and environmental issues of our time.

All of this can only be achieved by fully integrating these responsible investment practices into the overall investment approach. At Zurich, this is reflected through individual objectives across the Investment Management organization; through integration of responsible investment practices into standard processes, policies and systems; and through the dedicated effort and support of a small responsible investment team directly accountable to the Group's Chief Investment Officer.

The following asset classes are currently excluded from ESG integration:

- Sovereign bonds: disciplined asset/liability management (ALM) practices and, in some cases, insurance regulation require Zurich to hold substantial amounts of minimum-risk assets denominated in local currency to back local liabilities. (See OA 13.1 for further details.) Zurich does not manage any multi-currency sovereign bond portfolios that would allow ESG factors to influence issuer selection.
- Asset-backed securities: Zurich has found no evidence that ESG factors are a relevant factor in risk and return for this asset class.
- Hedge funds: Zurich believes that the bulk of hedge fund strategies do not lend themselves to ESG integration practices. However, there is a very solid process in place to evaluate governance at the fund manager level.

For index or quant mandates, active ownership practices are the only applicable element of ESG integration. Where ownership of voting rights lies with a fund vehicle over which Zurich does not have control, active proxy voting is not applicable.

Additional information.

Currently, reduction targets for CO2 emissions and energy consumption only apply to real estate investments in Switzerland (61 percent of global direct real estate investment value). Most buildings in the real estate investment portfolio are not used by Zurich. The environmental footprint of Zurich's own-use real estate is reported separately in the environmental performance section of Zurich's annual report.

Group-level

- Responsible investment is one focus area of Zurich's corporate responsibility (CR) strategy. The Group Executive Committee (GEC) is accountable for the CR strategy and its execution. The CR strategy forms an integral part of the Group strategy, over which the Zurich Board has formal oversight and which is reviewed by the Board annually. In addition, the Governance and Nomination Committee of the Board reviews CR reporting and progress made. A cross-functional Group-level body - the corporate responsibility Working Group - is responsible to determine the Group's CR strategy, priorities and objectives for approval by the GEC and monitors progress of the implementation of Zurich's overall corporate responsibility strategy. The Working Group is chaired by a member of the GEC and reviews progress against defined objectives on a quarterly basis. The head of responsible investment represents Investment Management in the Working Group.
- The Group Chief Investment Officer (CIO), a member of the Group Executive Committee, is responsible for the execution of the responsible investment strategy. Responsible investment provides a set of individual objectives for the CIO.

Investment Management

- The head of responsible investment, reporting directly to the CIO, is responsible for overseeing the execution of the responsible investment strategy and supporting the Investment Management organization in implementing responsible investment practices.
- As part of a standard annual individual objective-setting process, responsible investment objectives are assigned to individuals across Investment Management, including all department heads reporting directly to the CIO.

Investment Management has defined a clear and systematic approach to investing, supported by both industry and academic studies. Applying this approach globally to all investment activities is of great value to Zurich. Not only does the approach provide consistency and discipline, it also helps safeguard against investment decisions becoming procyclical, that is, taking on additional investment risk during 'good times' and being forced to reduce risk by selling investments at the worst possible moment during times of stress.

The starting point in determining the investment strategy in insurance investment management is ALM. This first step establishes a portfolio of investments that closely replicates the insurance liabilities and consists primarily of duration-matched government bonds. Such a minimum-risk portfolio will ensure that the market values of assets and liabilities move in line with fluctuations in interest rates.

The optimal mix of asset classes is determined, offering the highest long-term expected investment return given Zurich's liabilities, regulatory framework and allocated capital. To make this allocation, Investment Management distills all investable asset classes into a set of six easily-understandable and transparent risk factors. These risk factors comprise interest rate risk, credit risk, liquidity risk, equity and commodity risk, as well as inflation risk. Investment Management then works to determine the best combination of risk factors to maximize the risk-adjusted return for a given amount of capital.

So far, Zurich has found no evidence that climate change, or other ESG issues, are associated with a systematic market risk factor that could be reflected in the strategic asset allocation process. Consequently, Zurich believes that ESG issues are best reflected at the level of individual security or asset selection.

Overview

SAM 01

Voluntary

Descriptive

PRI 1-6

At Zurich, Investment Management always aims to appoint the most suitable manager for each portfolio, whether internal or external. Currently roughly two-thirds of Zurich's assets, and an even higher proportion of securities mandates, are managed by external asset managers. A stringent, fact-based manager evaluation process is applied. Selection criteria include the performance track record, investment philosophy and process, responsible investment practices, research and trade execution capabilities, risk management, organization and operations processes and costs. A dedicated manager selection team is responsible for this process. The asset manager selection skill and capabilities provide a distinct competitive edge relative to Zurich's major insurance peers, who tend to manage their investments in-house rather than outsourcing them to the best external investment managers.

Zurich strives to fully reflect the four basic requirements for successful ESG integration (see OA 01.3 for a description of how Zurich looks at ESG integration) in its asset manager life cycle process for all in-scope assets (see OA 03.2 for a description of assets in scope for ESG integration).

Manager selection

A set of responsible investment questions is integrated into the request for information (RFI) and request for proposal (RFP) questionnaires, is included in evaluation with an explicit weighting:

- Please describe your overall philosophy regarding, and approach to, responsible investment, including how you think environmental, social, and governance (ESG) factors impact risk-adjusted performance. Address how long-term views are generally incorporated into the investment process.
- Are you a signatory of the Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI)? If not, please explain your decision.
- Please describe how you integrate environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors into your investment process, particularly with respect to security/asset selection and risk management. Using a specific example of an ESG-related risk or opportunity, describe how the process in place has influenced the decision-making. Your answer should also address: 1) Who is primarily responsible for the analysis of ESG factors? 2) What resources (research, analytical tools, etc.) are available to portfolio managers and analysts to assess ESG factors? 3) If you have a dedicated ESG team, a description of how portfolio managers and equity/credit analysts integrate the input of the ESG team in their work; elaborate on the communication flow (meetings, research reports, etc.).
- If available, please provide a copy of your position statement. If a signatory of the Principles for Responsible Investment, please provide a brief description of how principles two to six are addressed by your organization.
- As part of your risk management or related processes, do you systematically assess the impact of ESG factors on the financial performance and do you capture exposure to any specific ESG-related risk factors as part of your portfolio-level risk analytics? If yes, do you prepare regular reports on ESG risk factor exposures?
- Please describe your proxy voting process and provide your proxy voting policy as attachment. If you do not actively vote all proxies and/or do not incorporate environmental and social issues in your policy, please explain why.
- Do you discuss specific ESG issues as part of systematic direct engagement with investee company management? If yes, please describe the process and provide three examples. If no, please explain why not.
- Please describe any relevant ESG-related training that portfolio managers and equity/credit analysts receive. If you have a dedicated ESG team, please outline the organization of the team and detail the experience and education of the team members. Use the attached

Excel sheet.

- If applicable, please indicate your willingness to share the following materials with clients: selected sections from the PRI questionnaire as prepared for annual PRI reporting, as well as the PRI's analysis of relative performance; portfolio-level report(s) on ESG factor exposure.

The manager selection and responsible investment teams work together to determine the appropriate weight on a case-by-case basis and in evaluating the responses.

Manager appointment

In 2013, Zurich has started a pilot to integrate responsible investment language into the Investment Management Agreement (IMA) for one specific mandate. This process was not completed by the end of the reporting year. Based on the outcome of this pilot, Zurich will determine the best way to adjust IMAs for all mandates which include portfolios in-scope for ESG integration.

Manager review

In 2013, an approach to formally integrate Responsible Investment practices into the monitoring process has been defined, including:

- Use of a detailed questionnaire to capture responsible investment practices applied specifically to Zurich portfolios
- Discussion of ESG risks and opportunities at a portfolio level as part of formal performance review meetings
- Discussion of responsible investment practices at formal senior-level relationship meetings
- Integration of responsible investment practices into Zurich's proprietary asset manager evaluation system.

This approach will be tested over the course of 2014.

Note that the selection of private equity fund managers follow a separate process described in SAM 10.2.

As signatory to the UN Global Compact, Zurich has a policy to neither insure nor invest in producers of UN-sanctioned banned weapons (cluster bombs and anti-personnel land mines). A watch list comprised of those companies is frequently circulated to internal and external asset managers, and compliance with guidelines and restrictions monitored on a regular basis.

Beyond this list, Zurich does not expect its external asset managers to apply negative ESG screens, but to fully integrate ESG factors into the investment decision-making process. The approach is currently being rolled out to all external asset managers managing assets Zurich considers to be in-scope for ESG integration (see section OA 03 for details).

Proxy voting for listed equities is delegated to external managers as specified in the Investment Management Agreements (IMA), but active execution is not yet a formal requirement: 75 percent of Zurich's external equity managers have active proxy voting policies in place. However, not all votes are executed due to geographic restrictions in policies, technical restrictions related to portfolio structures, etc. Zurich estimates that proxy votes have been actively executed on roughly 80 percent of externally-managed equities in-scope for ESG integration (see OA 3.2 for further details). Zurich will continue to work with external asset managers to formalize proxy voting and reporting requirements.

Private equity (PE) fund manager selection is performed by a dedicated PE team. Zurich strives to fully reflect the four core requirements for successful ESG integration (see OA 01.3 for a description of how Zurich looks at ESG integration) in its private equity investment process. In 2013, responsible investment practices were formally defined in the investment process manual at the following process stages:

- Investment due diligence
- Investment vetting and approval
- Execution and funding
- Risk management and reporting

Manager selection

A set of pre-defined questions are used to guide the assessment of responsible investment practices at the fund manager as part of the due diligence:

- How does the General Partner (GP) address ESG issues when analyzing investment opportunities?
- How are ESG issues included in the investment decision process?
- Is there a dedicated team focused on ESG issues?
- Does the GP provide ongoing ESG training for the relevant staff?
- Is environmental and social impact measured?
- Monitoring: How are ESG issues monitored at the portfolio company level? Is there a framework in place?
- Has the GP developed an internal ESG policy?
- Is data on ESG issues systematically collected by the GP?
- Provide specific examples on how ESG issues were addressed.
- Reporting to Limited Partners (LP): Is there a formal ESG reporting process in place? How often are LPs updated? What data is disclosed?
- Is the GP a signatory of the Principles of Responsible Investing (PRI)?

The PE and responsible investment teams work together to evaluate responsible investment practices and summarize findings for discussion by the investment committee.

Manager appointment

For the coming reporting period, Zurich is considering and will test the integration of responsible investment language into side letters.

Manager review

As part of periodic update meetings with fund managers, the PE team will review any material developments regarding ESG issues.

LEI 02.1	Provide a brief overview of how you incorporate ESG issues in listed equity investments.
-----------------	--

Zurich believes that ESG factors can materially affect risk and opportunity associated with underlying equity investments. Fully reflecting ESG factors, alongside traditional financial metrics and state-of-the-art risk management practices, in security selection decisions are thus expected to support the Investment Management team in its mission to achieve superior risk-adjusted long-term financial returns. Zurich believes that successful ESG integration is based on:

- adequate training to help investment decision makers understand the relevance of ESG factors
- access to data, research and analysis about ESG issues to inform investment decision making
- formal integration of ESG factors into the security and asset selection process
- active ownership practices

In addition, Zurich's General Insurance and Global Life business segments have processes in place to systematically identify, assess and mitigate potential ESG issues and the related reputational risks inherent in certain business transactions involving large projects and corporate customers. Zurich's approach focuses on working with its corporate customers and brokers to better manage corporate responsibility risks and promote best practices in managing ESG risks. Zurich's approach to integrate corporate responsibility risks and the UN Global Compact in underwriting may result in decisions to abstain from certain transactions. In some cases (primarily related to banned cluster munitions and anti-personnel land mines) the approach may result in a decision to stop doing business with a company, including any forms of direct investment. In Zurich's view it is very important to apply any 'exclusion' or 'negative screening' consistently across the Group, including underwriting and investment activities.

Currently, the screen consists of UN-sanctioned weapons (banned cluster munitions and anti-personal landmines). A list of producers of banned weapons is provided quarterly by a third-party research provider. Should a company identified be an existing Zurich customer, Zurich will conduct a corporate responsibility assessment and start an engagement process with the customer. During the engagement process, Zurich will not enter into any new business or new direct investments. If, after a period of one year, the engagement has not delivered any positive results, Zurich will stop entering into any new business with the company in question and will also divest from direct investments. The list of companies is circulated quarterly to all internal and external asset managers.

Should a company identified be an existing Zurich customer, Zurich will conduct a corporate responsibility assessment and start an engagement process with the customer. During the engagement process, Zurich will not enter into any new business or new direct investments. If, after a period of one year, the engagement has not delivered any positive results, Zurich will stop entering into any new business with the company in question and will also divest from direct investments. The list of companies is circulated quarterly to all internal and external asset managers.

FI 10.1	Describe how you integrate ESG issues into investment decision-making processes.

Zurich believes that ESG factors can materially impact risks associated with underlying corporate bond investments. Fully reflecting ESG factors, alongside traditional financial metrics and state-of-the-art risk management practices, in security selection decisions is thus expected to support the Investment Management team in its mission to achieve superior risk-adjusted long-term financial returns. Zurich believes that successful ESG integration is based on:

- adequate training to help investment decision makers understand the relevance of ESG factors
- access to data, research and analysis about ESG issues to inform investment decision making
- formal integration of ESG factors into the security and asset selection process
- active ownership practices

The security selection process varies among different in-house teams depending on local market and portfolio characteristics. A number of in-house teams are currently testing approaches to integrate ESG factors into their security selection processes. Based on these teams' experiences, we will determine minimum standards to formally integrate ESG factors into the security selection process for in-house investment teams.

Zurich is a core real estate investor with the objective to achieve long-term, stable cash flows. The global real estate strategy focuses on direct, unlevered, full ownership investments in the most liquid parts of the market. Zurich's real estate investment portfolio consists of over 500 properties around the globe, valued at over USD 8 billion. The majority of these properties are today located in Europe, with large portfolios in Switzerland, Germany, Austria and Spain. The largest portfolio outside Europe is in the U.S., with roughly 10 percent of the direct real estate exposure.

The portfolio and asset management for Zurich's global real estate portfolio is conducted locally, predominantly through in-house asset management teams. Only a very small proportion of real estate assets is managed by external asset managers. In contrast, property management is predominantly outsourced to local experts and clearly separated from asset and portfolio management.

Note that information provided as part of this module always refers to direct real estate exposure held for investment. It does not include some indirect exposure as well as property owned by Zurich for own use, for which other processes apply.

PR 04.1	Provide a brief overview of your organisation's approach to responsible investment in property where you have equity stakes.

As part of its overall real estate investment approach, Zurich views 'sustainability' as a key element of a 'core' real estate investment strategy. In line with this, Zurich has set a target to reduce energy consumption and CO2 emissions of the real estate portfolio by 20 percent by 2020, and 80 percent by 2050. To achieve these objectives, Zurich introduced processes that reflect its focus on sustainability in real estate transactions, development and property management.

Energy efficiency and the use of renewable energy sources, as well as other relevant ESG factors, are reflected on an asset-by-asset basis as part of transaction management (due diligence), asset management, as well as development and refurbishments. These aspects have also been integrated into the operational optimization plan as well as into project management guidelines.

This approach is currently limited to the Swiss real estate portfolio, representing 60 percent of Zurich's real estate investments by value. A global approach will be defined and rolled out over the coming years based on the experience of the Swiss team.

3. Sustainability targets are reflected in the operational optimization implementation plan
4. Sustainability best practices are reflected in project management guidelines to support decision-making at an asset-by-asset level

At this stage, Zurich is not making these documents available publicly.
